LONDON PROGRAMME:
ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE AND THE LAW REGULATION, RISKS AND PRACTICE

Artificial Intelligence is no longer a future concept . it is already transforming how legal services are delivered and how businesses manage legal risk. Lawyers, in-house counsel, compliance officers, senior managers, and executives are increasingly expected to understand how AI works, where it can be safely used, and where human legal judgment remains essential.

This programme provides a practical and structured introduction to AI from a legal and business perspective. It explains how modern AI systems operate, what they can and cannot do, and how they are currently being used across key areas of legal practice and business operations.

The programme links AI applications directly to the traditional core functions of legal departments and law firms: contract drafting, legal advice, dispute resolution, and regulatory compliance.
